How does it work?

Each pack gives you a number of ironing units to use freely throughout the pack's validity period – no need to use them all at once.

Some items, due to their size or complexity, count as more than one unit. You'll find the full list in the equivalence table further down this page.

If you run out of units before the period ends, you can simply buy a new pack at any time and start a fresh validity period from there.
